

“Emerging new frontiers in Musculoskeletal Science and Clinical Research”

AIMSS SYMPOSIUM

Monday 16 October, 3:00pm Auditorium, Level 1 WCHRE, Sunshine Hospital or via webinar

By staying at the forefront of musculoskeletal research, healthcare professionals can provide better care to patients, potentially reducing the burden of musculoskeletal disorders and improving patient outcomes.

Australian Institute for Musculoskeletal Science (AIMSS) at Western Health has been in the forefront of Musculoskeletal Science Research and Clinical translation of latest research outcomes since 2012.

This symposium will serve as an opportunity to network and enhance collaboration, to gain insights into potential research directions and clinical applications in the musculoskeletal science.
